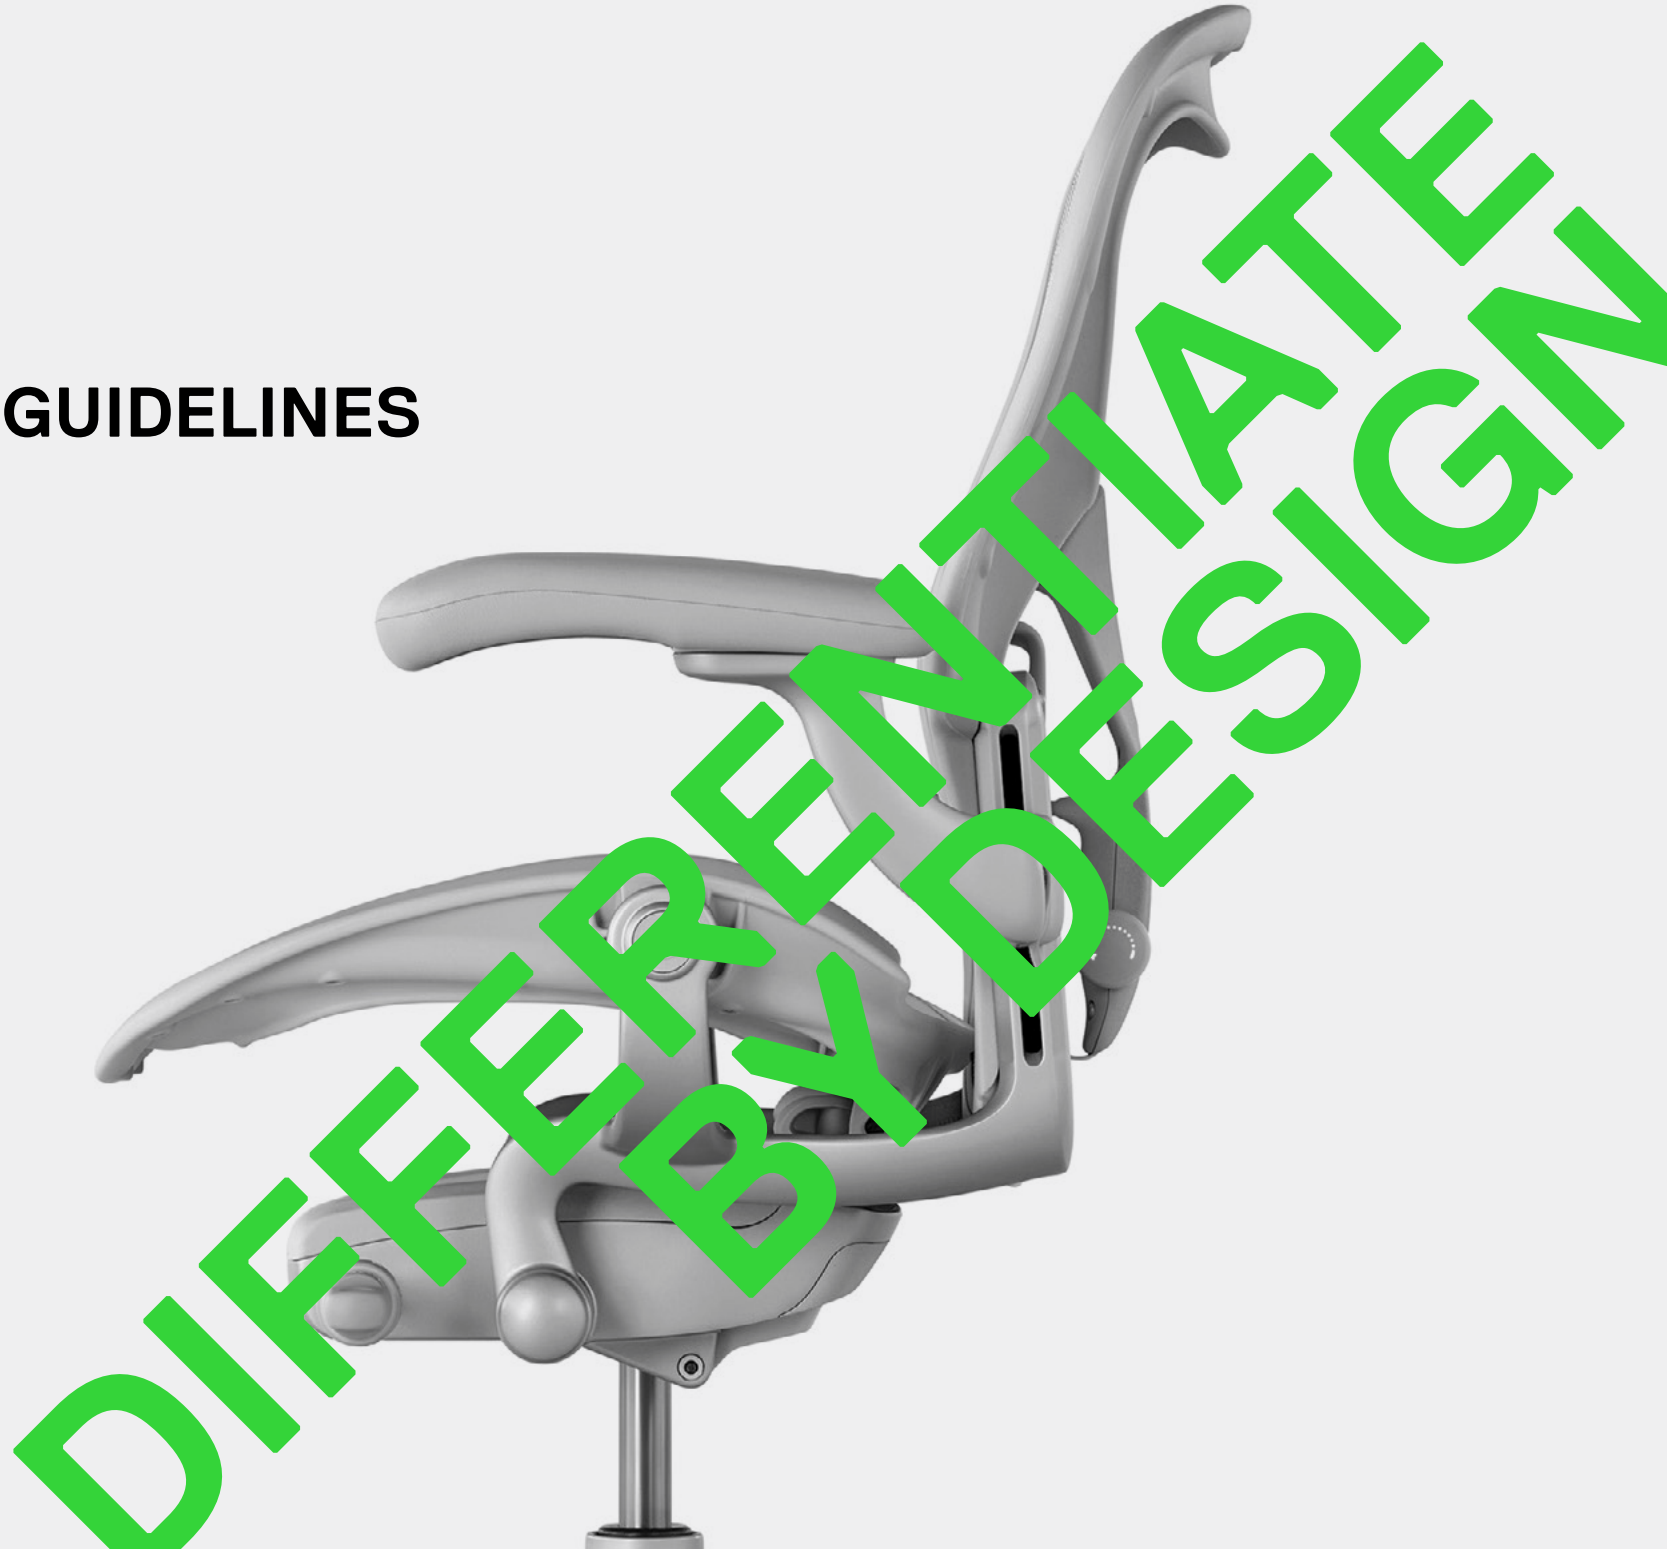
TRADEMARK GUIDELINES

GOOD DESIGN AWARDS®



The Australian Good Design Award registered trademarks are among the most respected and recognised international design endorsement symbols in the world and provide visible indicators of good design principles and an organisation's commitment to design excellence.

Use of the Good Design Award® trademarks is by invitation only and is governed by our Terms and Conditions and a strict Brand Usage Guidelines contained in this document.

In a crowded marketplace, good design gives companies their competitive edge and helps them distinguish their product or service.

Ultimately, good design is about making a difference, for the individual and society as a whole.

After 66 years Australia's Good Design Awards program remains one of the most trusted and prestigious design awards in the world.

Our evaluation process sets an international benchmark for best in class design and is widely regarded as the most rigorous evaluation process in the industry.

The Australian Good Design Award® trademarks offer a means of independent endorsement and immediate differentiation in the marketplace.

Consumers can be assured that products or services carrying the Good Design Award® trademarks have been put through their paces by an independent panel of design experts and come out on top.

Registered Trademark Usage Guidelines

The Australian Good Design Award® Trademark should be presented in a consistent and confident way across all communications to ensure that the integrity of the brand is maintained and protected.

The Trademark consists of two components which include the D icon and the Wordmark. These components have been specifically designed to work together and the configuration and size ratio of the components must never be altered.

As the D icon and Wordmark have been specially crafted, they must not be redrawn or altered in any way, and the Trademark may only be reproduced from original master artwork.

Clear Space

Please observe the clear space required around all Australian Good Design Award® Trademarks to maximise visual effectiveness. Nothing should intrude into this exclusion zone.

Clear space (x) equals 50% of the height / width of the D logo element (see 'Value of X' diagram). Whilst as much clear space as possible is recommended, the minimum clear space (x) is to be used where space is limited. This rule applies across all collateral, including literature, signage, and all other types of media.

Incorrect Usage

The two components of the Australian Good Design Award® Logos and Trademarks (D icon and Wordmark) have been specifically designed to work together. The configuration of the original artwork must never be altered or distorted in any way.

The following examples are unacceptable usages:

1. Unauthorised colour changes
2. Changes in proportion
3. Placing the logo on a non-horizontal axis
4. Applying a drop shadow or alternative visual effect
5. Cropping any portions
6. Stretching, distorting, or altering the aspect ratio
7. Presenting the Wordmark without the D Icon
8. Altering logo typeface
9. Applying additional elements
